CORE PURPOSE: TO ENHANCE THE SUCCESS OF WOMEN IN THE CONSTRUCTION INDUSTRY

President's Message

Create a ripple effect in NAWIC by getting involved

April was a great month for the Kansas City Chapter ladies! We were honored to host the Regional Forum here in our great city and it was SPECTACULAR! Hats off to Tina Davis, Forum Coordinator, Susan Farmer, National & Regional Events Chair, and the committee for taking the charge on a perfectly executed event. The Forum committee did not miss a detail when it came to planning, receiving and entertaining. The Intercontinental Hotel impressed, the speakers informed and educated, the food delighted and the group hypnotist certainly entertained!

There is something so fulfilling and delightful about the connections made at regional events such as this, and I encourage you to attend one if you have not to date. Even if you cannot attend each one, don't short change yourself by not attending that which you can. That can also be said about all parts of NAWIC.

Understandably life and work are busy and ever evolving, demanding etc. I encourage you to donate your skills and talents in the ways that you can – there is always something in works with our group. And much like raising kiddos....sometimes it "takes a village"! With so many opportunities around the corner, Magic Camp, Scholarship Golf Tournament, AMEC, membership outreach etc., there is still so much to be involved in. Enjoy the upcoming fun ladies, and please continue to be involved, be active and be a voice for your chapter.

Getting the most from your NAWIC membership

NAWIC's goals are achieved through a variety of member services that will enhance your life – professionally and personally.

Director's Message By Holly Streeter-Schaefer, Director

May is an exciting time for NAWIC Chapter 100! Why you ask? The nominating committee meets and prepares the "slate" for next year's officers. The slate is then presented to the members at the May Membership meeting for election. But what is a slate and what does it mean to you?

The Slate

The slate is a list of candidates interested in participating as an officer of the Chapter. The straw ballot Vickie Nickel sent to all members at the end of March seeks members interested in holding officer positions as well as participating on committees. The nominating committee uses the straw ballot to gauge interest in becoming involved in a Chapter committee and the Board of Directors. The straw ballot is your chance to let the nominating committee know who you want as your Chapter leaders and committee chairs.

Important to You

As a member, you play an important role in shaping the leadership of the Chapter. NAWIC Chapter 100 wants all of its members to get involved. The more involved you are, the more lasting and meaningful your connections will be while using your membership to the fullest. You joined for a reason, so get involved, join a committee, and network with other Chapter members while promoting and supporting women in construction.

I was overwhelmed when I first joined NAWIC Chapter 100 more than ten years ago. I did not know anyone at my first membership meeting and was not sure where to sit, who to talk to – I was fish out of water. But I volunteered for the Block Kids Committee that year and was hooked. After chairing various committees and participating on the Board of Directors, I was elected to President of NAWIC Chapter 100 for the 2007-2008 year. Had I not volunteered for a committee, I am not sure I would be a member today. I encourage all members to join a committee and get involved in the Chapter. Contact anyone on the nominating committee or Jennifer Lyon, President-Elect, to let them know how you would like to get involved next year.

Holly has been a NAWIC member since June 2002. She has been an active member of the Gr. Kansas City, MO Chapter serving as chapter president in 2007-2008 and currently serves as a Director and President of the Scholarship Foundation. Construction is Holly's passion as she earned a degree in construction engineering and graduated from law school. She is a shareholder with Polsinelli and is married to husband Ken (he's in construction and has been a Block Kids judge for many years.)

Yard and Garden Safety

By Vicki Simpson, Safety Chair

Before heading outside to garden or do other yard work, remember accidents can, and do, occur at home. By taking some simple precautions, you can reduce the chance of being injured while fixing up your yard.

As the weather becomes warmer and days are longer, we spend as much time as we can outdoors enjoying our backyards. Many of us tackle do-it-yourself projects and others are happy just being outside. But, to be safe, it is important to remember the following safety tips when working in the yard:

- Store pesticides and herbicides on high shelves or inside locked cabinets, out of the reach of children.
- Garden tools such as rakes, spades, forks, pruning clippers, files and metal plant stakes should not be left lying around when not in use. All equipment should be stored properly.
- Check over all the equipment you plan to use to ensure it is in good condition and that any safety devices are in place and work correctly.
- Never allow children to operate power lawn and garden equipment. Teenagers may operate the machinery if they possess adequate strength and maturity, and only under adult supervision.
- If you use chemicals in the yard, keep children and pets away from the area.
- Ladders should be placed on their sides, and rakes should lie with the tines down.
- Wear long pants and long-sleeved shirts. Clothing should be as close-fitting as possible to avoid being caught in moving parts of equipment.
- Protect your eyes with goggles or glasses.
- Protect your hearing when using motor-driven equipment.
- Wear sturdy shoes with slip-resistant rubber soles.
- Wear gloves when changing, sharpening or cleaning blades.
- Don't forget to use sunscreen and bug spray on yourself before you go out.
- Lastly, take breaks and stay hydrated!
